LIQUID BREAD

A PURE MALT EXTRACT.

Possesses the highest merit. It is manufacture ffrom the choicest materials, and combines the most pala-table qualities of a refreshing drink, with the invigor-ating and wholesome properties of the best Mait Extracts.

It is a true tonic and delightful beverage, alike desirable for invalids and persons in health. Will be found upon trial to be a pleasant and complete substitute for all alcoholic drinks, most of which are too stimulating all alcoholic drinks, most of which are too stimulating for delicate constitutions.

Is the beverage "Par Excellence" for nursing mothers, creates an abundance of milk, while it strengthens and invigorates the entire system.

After careful analysis, Wilbur G. Hall, Ph. D., New York, says: "Liquid Bread is a refreshing, noarishing table beverage, and a wholesome invigorating tonic. It is palatable to the taste, and of easy assimilation."

Frank L. James, Ph. D., M.D., St. Louis, after analysis, says: "Its low percentage of alcohol, its effervestence, its delightful taste and odor, all combine to recommend Nicholson's Malt Extract as being a most nourishing beverage, and the best article of the sort that has ever come under my examination."

DRY GOODS. FLANNELS! FLANNELS! FLANNELS!

As all mortals from their infancy wear Flannels we have undertook to tell you something regarding that most important article In the first place, there is just as much difference in the grades and prices of Flannels as there is in any class of material made and worn.

And as Flannels must be taken in consideration as a sanitary medium, you must be careful what kind you buy. Of course, we keep all grades. We have to do so to cater for all classes of trade and for different usages, as some may want Flannels only for a lining: but when you want a good class of Flannel, such as Medicated Flaunel, you will want to know what you are buying. And then again, we keep the delicate shades of Flannel. Now these goods it is most necessary you should be cautious in buying.

Now we keep makes that will positively keep the We also keep the very much worn Jersey Flann in all conceivable stripes at 50c. and 624c.

We also keep Eider Down, in white, light blu medium, blue and pink, the finest quality made. We keep Plaid Flannels. This makes the nicest kind of material for a wrapper, as it not alone a sub stantial material for wear, but at the same time a very comfortable and warm article. A site was subsequently decided on—the ground between the Center market and Pennsylvania avenue-and the work was commenced, as all will remember. Of course, the purchase money for the old city hall was paid by the United States, but the work of the new building was never proceeded with, and no one knows whatsuitable building for District purposes?" "That depends upon circumstances," answered Mr. Entwisle; "but a building in keep-would be nearer the ngures. This city is bound to expand; no one can foresee where it will stop, and of course the public business increases correspondingly. There should be no niggardly outlay for this improvement. The advantage of this spot is that it would cost nothing for the ground, and where is there within the District imits a more central spot than Judiciary square? There can be no two opinions about it THE CONDITION OF THE BUILDING OFFICIALLY scribed. "The Morrison buildings," the report said, "are used for the Commissioners' office, engineer department, assessors and tax collector's office, water register's office, auditor, property cle.k, special assessment, liquor license There are twenty-four rooms, four of which are of fire-proof construction and used for storage of records; seven of the rooms are located in the center of the building, having no light, except from the small light-wells, and are, therefore of no use for offices, leaving but fourteen to be occupied. The number of persons employed in those fourteen rooms are 94; all rooms, except two on the first floor originally intended for stores, are of ordinary size (average 16x20 feet). In these fourteen rooms are stored all books, maps, charts, drawings, measurements, receipts and requisitions, special and general assess-ment books; in fact, nearly all the records since the board of public works was established, and must be kept there on account of the vaults being crowded. This building was originally intended for two dwellings, and is built throughout of wooden stairways, joists and partitions. The stairways are too narrow to let two persons pass each other conveniently. Several of the more important offices are located on the third and fourth stories, and there being no elevator they are constantly being complained of by the great number of persons having business to transact. There is little or no ventilation provided, and the air at times becomes so foul that it is necessary to open the windows. The only heating apparatus are two small-size portable furnaces in the cellar, heating only the hall and the two larger rooms on the first floor, all other rooms being heated by stoves or grates, which makes the heating expensive compared with a general heating apparatus run with one of The building with its two small well holes, one

THE WILL OF JANE L. SMITH.—The will of the late Jane L. Smith, widow of the Rev. Dr. J. C. Smith, has been filed. To Mrs. E. A. Durser, of Baltimore, she leaves $300; to Agnes M. Tillotson, of Kentucky, $500, with reversion if she dies before distribution, to Jane E. Jarossan, of Paris, France; to T. H. Kerner, of Marysville, Col., a nephew, $2,000. She directs the sale of her stocks, except the 4 per cent United States bonds, to pay these bequests, and the use of the money goes to Mrs. Jarossan. In consideration of her friendship for Catharine Chauncy, and for her faithful service, she leaves the interest of her 4 per cents, $9,450, during life, with the household furniture, and at her death the executor is to sell the bonds and pay the following bequests: Trustees of General Assembly, of the Presbyterian church, for the use of disabled ministers, &c., $1,000; American Seamans' Fund society, $500; Home Missionary society, $1,000; and the residue to Mrs. Jarossan. Thos. H. Kernan is named as executor.

AN EXCELLENT APPOINTMENT. That's What They All Say About the New Marshal.

PLEASED THAT THE PRESIDENT IS APPOINT ING DISTRICT MEN TO DISTRICT OFFICES.

"Tickled to death," said Mr. Lawrence Gardner when asked what the sentiment of the District democracy was concerning Mr. Wilson's appointment. "They are not only pleased on personal grounds, but they are pleased at the recognition the President has given of what they have long striven for-the appointment of District men to District offices." "It was an excellent appointment," said Mr

William Dickson, "and it is especially gratifying to District democrats, because in making it the President is carrying out the plank in the democratic platform favoring the appointment of local men for local offices. This is the fourth. First there was Collector Cropley, of George-town; then Commissioner Webb, then the post-master over there at Garfield and now the mar-shal, and all are District men." "There is but one sentiment among members of the bar," said ex-District Attorney Corkhill. "They are all pleased with Mr. Wilson's appointment, republicans as well as democrats, for he is known as a gentleman, a man of character, and a good business man, identified with the community. "Of course," added Mr. Corkhill, "there can be no improvement on McMichael, but we think Mr. Wilson will do as "It was a very proper appointment," said Mr. C. S. Moore. "It has dispelled the misgivings of the District democrats that the President would appoint non-residents to office here. The President has kept the faith that was pledged at Chicago that District men should be appointed to District offices.

"How do members of the bar regard it?"

"Well, they are pleased. Mr. Wilson is a good business man and knows the people of this city. It is a mistaken idea that members of the bar prefer juries of compromising men of little character. They would prefer to have the best element of the community drawn upon for juries, and Mr. Wilson is the man to "What will he do in regard to the appointments in his office?" "Well, he is a spoilsman. He carried the banner in the last campaign, which had for its foremost motto, 'turn the rascals out.' Mr. Selden, proprietor of the Metropolitan hotel, the headquarters of the District democrais, expresses himself as delighted with the appointment of Mr. Wilson as marshal, and says all the democrats with whom he had talked were pleased. Mr. R. S. Davis says that the appointment is emphatically a good one, and is especially satisfactory to the District democracy, the appointee being a native and life-long well-known citizen of the District.

Recommendations Made by Commissioner McDonald-Legislation Against itles of the Chesapeake Oyster Fish-

Col. Marshal McDonald, as commissioner of fisheries of Virginia, has made a report to Gov. Cameron of the work of the state commission for the two years ending September 30th, 1885. The report says: Rigid limitation and control of the pound net fisheries is necessary in order to prevent the destruction of the shad and herring fisheries. The practical exclusion from our streams (by the multiplication of pound nets in the bay and the estuaries of our rivers) of species like the shad and herring, which must reach fresh waters before they can reproduce their kind, must produce a rapid decline in the amount and value of these fisheries. Artificial propagation, which has exercised an important conservative influence over the fisheries, is inadequate to contend unaided with the adverse conditions that now assail them and threaten their very existence. The number of shad reaching fresh water grows less year by year, and the opportunity for artificial propagation, which depends upon the catch of shad in the rivers, grows correspondingly less with the decrease in the river catch. It is recommended, therefore: 1. That the setting of pound nets, pike nets, weirs, stake nets and all other fixed contrivances for the capture of fish in our rivers be prohibited under such penalties and forfeitures as will guarantee the observance of the law. 2. That the setting of pounds in the bay be prohibited, unless the party or parties propos-ing to operate the same shall have previously, in the manner prescribed by law, obtained a permit or license for the same, such permit de scribing precisely the location of the pounds. the number of fathoms of hedging, the number of pots, bowls or pounds to be operated and such other details as are necessary for enforcing the provisions of law, and further for each pot, bowl or pound specified in the license or permit, the licensee shall pay to the officer authorized by law to collect the same the sum of $50.

3. That the proceeds of all fees or taxes thus collected shall be paid into the treasury of the commenwealth, and kept and accounted for as "the fishing fund," and applied to artificial propagation and distribution of fishes, and for the compensation of such "fish wardens" or other officers as may be necessary to enforce the laws regulating the fisherles. The report urges the desirability of the enactment of a law general in its application and without limitation as to time prohibiting the use of poisons or dynamite for the capture of fish in any waters, and the use of seines, set nets, fish dams, traps, or any other fixed con-trivance for the capture of fish in any stream above tide-water. Attention is called also to the advisability of modifying the law requir-ing the general erection of fishways, as it is now oyster fisheries of the Chesapeake, which are to. day an important element of wealth to the tidewater section of the state, and which afford profitable employment to so many of her peo-ple, have not one tithe of the importance or value they are destined to attain at some future day, when we have utilized to the utmost the capabilities of production which now lie dor-mant under the surface of this magnificent inland sea. The natural oyster beds from which we now The natural oyster beds from which we now draw our principal market supply, and which furnish the seed for the planting grounds, not only in the Chesapeake, but for the whole coast from New Jersey to Long Island Sound, occupy but an insignificant portion of the entire area of the bay. The area adapted to planting, is alike limited in extent, and under the present system of licenses cannot be enlarged, because any extension would involve heavy expendi-tures in the consolidation of the bottom so as to furnish a firm bed for the oysters, or in the erection of break waters to protect the planting grounds from the violence of the waves, and no one would be willing to make such outlays About I:80 o'clock p. m. yesterday, as a num-ber of men were at work on a new 2-story brick ber of men were at work on a new 2-story brick ber of men were at work on a new 2-story brick bay may be converted into oyster bearing bay may be converted into oyster bearing grounds, as has been already done by the Forbes and others in Long Island Sound.

It is certain that the extensive region of salt marshes which fringe the bay can be brought into profitable production by the adoption of modifications of the French system of oyster cultivation in "Parcs" and "Claires," provided that the necessary legislation be enacted to insure security of tenure beyond a peradventure. If all that portion of the Chesapeake area which lies below the level of low waters and constitutes the sovereign domain be declared subject to entry and patent, as are now the public lands which are above tide level, care being taken not to impair vested rights, then the General Assembly will have done all that is necessary to inaugurate an expansion in oyster culture, the extent of which can now scarcely be imagined. Private enterprise will accomplish the rest, and the increase in taxable values thus created will constitute no insignificant addition to the revenue of the state.

buildings, ranging in cost from $25,000 to $2,000,000 each, calling for a total expenditures of $8,511,400. The expenditures for the year on this account have aggregated $2,438,709. He recommends that a board be created, of which the Secretary of the Treasury shall be ex-officio chairman, and which shall include the Supervising Architect and three other members, to be called the Board of Public Buildings of the Treasury department, to prevent those who have no further interest than personal profit from questioning recommendations. One should be a sanitary and heating and ventilating engineer, another should be a master builder, fully acquainted with all the arts of building, and by experience capable of judging of all the different phases of the work in practical operation, and the third should be an architect of eminent skill and sbillity as a designer and constructionist, and who would be an assistant to the Supervising Architect, and to act as Supervising Architect, and to act as Supervising Architect in his absence. Architect Bell also says that no bill for the erection of a public building should be passed without first getting the approval of the Treasury department as to its necessity and as to the amount to be expended for the ground, approaches and finish of the building complete. The amount the fixed as the limit of cost should be made available upon the passage of the bill, so that there should be no stoppage of the work or unnecessary expense in the preparation of plans. are of his complaint, sets forth nine different causes of
